A family reunion is more fun with more people!

Songahm Taekwondo competition is more fun with more people!

Tournament competition offers many different advantages to all martial arts students, whether child or adult. It helps build confidence by performing in a different environment in front of other fellow ATA members and Instructors. It helps build quality by testing oneself against others in similar age and rank groups. It helps build excitement for training by showing that there is always more to learn. It helps build longevity in training by offering a new and different set of goals to achieve. It helps build relationships, new and old alike, as you make new friends and challenge yourself with old ones. And it helps build a sense of the size and scope of the grand organization we are all a part of.
